Thanks Rob (and others copied) - We will see you there with lunches in tow.

Also copying other attendees plus Mike Zollitsch and David Anderson for awareness.

I think that sounds great, Don.

Nothing too formal at our end. We are not intending that this briefing substitute for a more formal review that might be undertaken by all of the relevant parties.

You and your colleagues might want to grab a lunch and bring it to CRITFC's 12th floor offices. We will be in the Columbia Room, which has a decent speaker phone. We've reserved the CRITFC conference line, (b) (6), so that folks can join remotely. We can also easily set up a Go To weblink if you think it would be helpful to share materials.

Looking forward to seeing you at CRITFC on April 4, 12:00.

Rob

PS. I had a meeting in Cascade Locks on Wednesday, so a colleague and I stopped by Lindsey Lake (ODOT scale station). I talked to the Hydro Con contractors a little bit.

Rob – It turns out we don't have the drill scheduled for that date after all. We can still do the noon meeting if you can make that happen...and sorry for the misdirect.

Mike Greenburg (Lead Worker) and I are available to come down at noon, and Jamie Collins (SOSC) is available to tie in via phone, if you would like and are able to make that happen.

Let me know and I will get the word out.

Good morning Don and Richard,

Would you both be available for an informal lunch meeting at the CRITFC offices on April 4 to share some reflections on the Lindsey Lake spill.

We had a number of CRITFC staff involved in the response and we are continuing to better understand the contributions our staff can make to the response in coordination with all involved.

CRITFC is going to have an internal review ("hotwash") of the Lindsey Lake spill in the morning on April, 4. We'll be discussing internal roles and responsibilities and the spill response outcomes.

If you could join us for an hour at noon on the 4th that would be great.

Best regards,

Rob
